

---

♥ Teaching 8 Billion People to LOVE 8 Billion People

These questions focus on the core philosophy of my mission

How do you manage the sheer scale of your mission—teaching 8 billion people to love 8 billion people—and what does that journey look like, one heart at a time?

What does the phrase "leading with L.O.V.E." practically mean in a modern context, and what does the acronym stand for in your philosophy?

Can you share a specific story or anecdote that illustrates how a single act of love can create a tangible ripple effect in a community?

What is the biggest myth or misunderstanding people have about the concept of "unconditional love," and how do you address it?

---

♥♥ Nonviolence365 & The LOVE rEVOLution

These questions connect my work to social change and Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

How does your LOVE rEVOLution movement directly translate the philosophical principles of Dr. King's Nonviolence365 into actionable steps for the average person?

The phrase "LOVE rEVOLution" implies a dramatic, systemic shift. What kind of "revolution" are you trying to inspire, and what will the world look like when it succeeds?

In a polarized world, how can the practice of nonviolence move beyond protest and become a daily tool for building community and resolving conflict?

Dr. King spoke of emerging from the "midnight of man's inhumanity to man." How does your work serve as a vehicle for achieving that "bright and glittering daybreak of freedom and justice"?

What is the most challenging form of "inhumanity" you are currently focused on combating with the principle of love?

---

DebtFreeDegree & Financial Justice

These questions explore the intersection of Nonviolence365, financial literacy, and my love-based mission

Why is the concept of a DebtFreeDegree foundational to the LOVE rEVOLution? How does financial freedom enable a person to better live a life of love and service? How is DebtFreeDegree a form of Nonviolence365?

What specific, non-loan, free money strategies (scholarships, grants, work-study) do you most strongly advocate for, and where should a high school student start?

---

Application & Personal Journey

These questions are geared toward practical application and guiding personal insights

What is the first action you would recommend a listener take today to start practicing the principles of Leading with L.O.V.E.?

Many people feel overwhelmed by global problems. How do you instruct them to channel their frustration and anger into constructive, love-based action?

In what ways does your work challenge the common notion that love is a passive emotion, showing it instead as an active, revolutionary force?

---

The Future

These questions focus on my mission and the Beloved Community

If the host's audience is primarily parents, what are the three essential lessons for raising children who will be leaders in the LOVE rEVOLution?

What is the biggest resistance you face when introducing the idea that love should be the central operating principle of business, government, and education?

Can you share the long-term, 50-year vision for the LOVE rEVOLution and where you hope humanity will be once this mission is fully realized?